

I am opposed to the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) choice to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. There is good reason why those of us who registered our numbers on the Indiana Privacy list -- WE DO NOT WANT TO BE CALLED. There is no good reason that the CBA members (or any other under the guise of 'already established business relationship') should be exempt from abiding by Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. Please do not allow consumer's rights to be violated! If you allow the CBA to undermine this Law you are leading us down a slippery slope back to where we started.
